HAT the veterans of the civil war think of the demand of the soldiers of the world war for a bonus is strikingly set forth in a letter received to-day by a member of Congress from Luke E. Parsons of Salina, Kan., who was a Major in the Union Army. Major Parsons is 88 years old the only survivor of the battle Ossawatomie, fought by John Brown in Kansas in 1856, and served in the Union Army from 1861 until the close of the war.

"To yield under the threats of the veterans of the world war, i seems to me, would be rank cow-ardice," said Major Parsons. "These healthy and saucy young men should be told: 'It is more honorable to work than to loaf.' "All I can say is: 'Forbid it, Almighty God.'"
